

Caroline Finch AO

Personal financial interests: I am employed as the Deputy Vice-Chancellor/Vice-President (Research) at Edith Cowan University (ECU) in Perth, Western Australia.

Organizational financial interests. As an active injury prevention researcher, I am also a named investigator on several research grants and funding contracts administered through ECU included with the Australian Institute of Sport, Australian Government Department of Defence, International Olympic Committee and Injury Matters.

Non-financial interests. Upon request, I provide injury epidemiology advice to various government bodies and other agencies, including through membership of medical or scientific advisory boards, such as the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare and Surf Life Saving Australia. I may have professional relationships with some authors through my past/current co-authorship of papers and research collaborations.
